About the Event

Internet and social media platforms are a formidable force for social change, providing a medium for young people to organize, communicate freely and find 'community' online. These tools are a powerful potential catalyst for increasing confidence and social cohesion. As part of World Interfaith Harmony Week 2018, UNICEF and KAICIID will jointly host a half-day expert meeting. The panel discussions will assess the needs and challenges faced by young people using social media, particularly in conflict areas, followed by a moderated Q&A.

About UNICEF

UNICEF works in some of the world's toughest places, to reach the world's most disadvantaged children. Across 190 countries and territories, we work for every child, everywhere, to build a better world for everyone.

About The International Dialogue Centre (KAICIID)

KAICIID is an intergovernmental organization that promotes dialogue to build peace in conflict areas. It does this by enhancing understanding and cooperation between people of different cultures and followers of different religions.
