Ms. Muzoon Almellehan

UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador

Muzoon Almellehan, 22, is a Syrian refugee and education activist. Muzoon has been campaigning for children's education in emergencies since she was forced to flee Syria in 2013 with her family. Muzoon started her campaign in Jordan, where she was living as a refugee in camps for three years, including 18 months in Za'atari. As part of a UNICEF-supported back-to-school campaign, she first advocated for more girls to go to school in August 2013 and went from tent to tent speaking with parents of children who were at risk of child marriage or early labor. Over the next two and a half years she became synonymous with standing-up for the rights of children, particularly girls, to stay in or go back to school. She accompanied Malala on two visits to the camp.

Muzoon is currently studying in Newcastle, United Kingdom, where she has been resettled with her family. She is the first UNICEF Goodwill Ambassador who is a refugee and offers a powerful, credible, authentic voice on education in emergencies.

Most recently in April 2019 she travelled to Mali with UNICEF to raise awareness of the impact of the rising insecurity and violence on children's education and safety. In July 2019, Muzoon was the keynote speaker representing the voices of children at the UN event for the 30th Anniversary of the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Muzoon has received the following awards and honors: Dresden Peace Prize 2020, Cle de Peau Power of Radiance award 2019, BBC's list of 100 influential and inspirational women in 2017, TIME's 30 Most Influential Teens of 2017, Teen Vogue's 21 Under 21 Class of 2017 and a 2017 Glamour Women of the Year Award. In 2019 Muzoon was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws from Glasgow Caledonian University.

Dr. Kezevino Aram

President

Shanti Ashram

International Center for Child and Public Health

Dr. Kezevino Aram has served as President of Shanti Ashram since 2014. Shanti Ashram, founded in 1986 on Mahatma Gandhi's vision of Sarvodaya (progress for all), is an international center for learning, development and collaboration. It accompanies communities in their efforts to move out of poverty, address inequalities, build creative leaders and ensure sustained development. Today, Shanti Ashram serves over 70,000 vulnerable children across 100 villages in Tamil Nadu.

In 2017, Dr. Aram founded the International Center for Child and Public Health (ICPH) on the 30th anniversary of Shanti Ashram. ICPH is an innovative model of integrating primary care with public health, where the best of global knowledge steers comprehensive interventions for children. Besides contributing to the public health discourse and policy at the national level, ICPH directly impacts the health outcomes of 20,000 vulnerable children. Dr. Aram was invited to serve on the 'Experts Committee' of the Government of Tamil Nadu in March 2020 when the COVID-19 pandemic affected India. Her mandate was to advise on child health and child protection issues. In realizing this responsibility, she worked with the Ministry of Health, the Health Secretary, the Director of Health Services, and Public Health experts at WHO. Dr. Aram's assessment of the impact of the pandemic on children shaped her policy response that subsequently led to the resuming of the Early Childhood Services and opening of over 54,000 Anganwadi centres in Tamil Nadu. Over the last two decades, Dr. Aram has worked with the Government of India to make several notable contributions to India's Public Health landscape.

Internationally, Dr. Aram has continued to leverage her global leadership positions for the common good. She was invited to serve on the World Economic Forum's Advisory Committee on the Social Determinants of Health Platform. Dr. Aram also serves as Co-moderator and Executive Committee Member of Religions for Peace-International where she works closely with faith-based organizations in 90 countries to advance Peace building efforts. Dr. Aram is a Board Member of KAICIID, and during the pandemic, was elected as Chairperson of this prestigious Inter-Governmental Organization for Interfaith Dialogue. Dr. Aram also serves as the Vice Chair of the Advisory Board of Arigatou International where she has collaborated to advance the interfaith collaboration to ensure wellbeing and progress of children worldwide. Dr. Aram is also a Trustee at the M. S. Swaminathan Research Foundation.

Ms. Esther Lehmann-Sow

Partnership Leader - Faith and Development

With more than 25 years of field experience working with vulnerable communities and children, Ms. Lehmann-Sow has managed country programme offices, led major emergency responses and directed World Vision's work across West and Central Africa. She is passionate about the holistic well-being of children, and the role of faith communities in realising this. She has worked in a number of multi-faith settings to test, refine and scale approaches that engage faith communities to promote positive values and behaviours for the most vulnerable children. In her current role, she leads World Vision's global work to drive positive change for the world's most vulnerable children by boldly and humbly living out the organisation's Christian faith and calling, and by joining hands with diverse partners. Dr. Lehmann-Sow is a German citizen, widowed, mother of three, and currently lives in Dakar, Senegal.

Paloma Escudero was appointed Director of Global Communication and Advocacy at UNICEF in April 2013. Bringing her extensive experience and expertise in the areas of communications, fundraising, advocacy and brand management, she oversees UNICEF's global public outreach and communications as its senior communication official. Prior to the appointment, Ms. Escudero had already been well known among the UNICEF family as Executive Director of the Spanish National Committee. Under her management between 2007 and 2013, the Committee was transformed into a highly efficient organization — increasing its contribution to UNICEF programmes in over 150 developing countries and contributing significantly to emergencies such as the Haiti earthquake in 2010.

Ms. Escudero started her professional career, which spans more than two decades, in 1989 at Procter & Gamble Spain, where she was the company's Brand Manager overseeing the marketing teams responsible for the brand repositioning of products. After a sabbatical year spent travelling around the world with her husband, and working as an aid worker in Guatemala, Ms. Escudero joined Oxfam in 1997. In 2000, she became the Director of the Oxfam International Advocacy Office for the European Union. First based in Spain and later in Brussels, she worked on issues such as overseas development aid, external debt, humanitarian law, international agriculture and trade, and climate change. Escudero holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and Business Sciences from ICADE – Universidad Pontificia Comillas in Madrid. She obtained an Erasmus grant to specialize in marketing at ESSEC Business School in Paris.

Master Tan Zhixia

Taoist Missionary

Master Tan Zhixia is a Taoist missionary ordained in the Complete Perfection Quanzhen Tradition of Taoism, the 21st Generation of Longmen Sect. Besides serving as Priest-in-Residence at the Temple of Heavenly Jade Emperor Yu Huang Gong, a National Monument of Singapore, she is also the Vice President of Taoist Mission in Singapore, an association that promotes Taoism and Chinese cultures and traditions. This gives her ample opportunities in developing Taoist studies and discipline and programmes for community engagement on social cohesion and peacebuilding from the Taoist perspective. Although Taoism is a religion indigenous of China, it does not deter her from learning and practising Taoism in the cosmopolitan city of Singapore. She loves to share the fundamentals of philosophical and religious Taoism, and has been introducing “Tao Ecological Intelligence”, a solution to save Mother Earth and Humanity. Master TAN Zhixia often quotes the wise teaching of Laozi, in the scripture Tao Te Ching, “Conduct oneself with the Three Treasures of TAO - Compassion, Frugality and Humility, harmony and peace will always prevail.”
